Thanksgiving is a time to say thanks

Jerry Nine
Woodward
Livestock
Auction
Woodward, OK

Thanksgiving time is here again and all of us have a lot to be thankful for.

Most of us do not have a clue what it would be like to live in a country where they have no freedom. Those people claiming they would like to live in a socialist country ought to move to one of them. I challenge you to encourage your family to do something nice for someone or some family that is having a harder time this Thanksgiving.

Some people have no family and some have lost a family member this year, making it difficult. Some may be disgusted with the elections we just had and although they are not perfect at least we have a process and an opportunity to vent our frustration.

Woodward Livestock Auction

900 Lakeview Dr, Woodward, OK | Jerry Nine 800.442.5548

Some in our area received some moisture in the past two weeks with some farmers east and also south of us having some wheat that could at least handle some light-weight cattle on it. One farmer told me this morning that most of the wheat he planted was over at the neighbors what with the winds we had.

I was supposed to buy six pair for a man but the only good 5-year-olds were in a group of eight pairs. So I asked the man who had bought the 6-year-olds if he could use two more 5-year-olds. He said that would be fine. He is very funny and has a very dry sense of humor. I said to him, "Do you want me to get the two pair that has the biggest calves or the smallest?" He said, "Well, if you would give me the smallest calves, I would have more room in the trailer."

A friend of mine has a boy that is 3 years old. His mother asked him if he wanted goulash tonight. He didn't answer her so she asked him again. Finally her little boy said, "I don't even know her."

Another grandpa has a young grandson who lives in a smaller town. At the high school they play basketball and baseball but they have never had football there. They were having a family get together so all the kids went outside to play.

An older grandson got his football out of his car and threw the football to the younger grandson. He caught the ball and then hollered out, "I don't even know where the bases are."

"Editor's note: Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

Locals Inducted Into WOHS Hall of Fame

The 50th Annual Western Oklahoma Hall of Fame Banquet hosted by the Western Oklahoma Historical Society was held Tuesday night at the United Methodist Church in Elk City.

Three Western Oklahoma residents that included long time broadcaster Shawn Wilson of Elk City, educator Cindy Wood of Elk City, and longtime farmer and member of the Cheyenne School Board Dale Tracy were honored and inducted into this year's hall of fame during the ceremony.

All three inductees were introduced by colleagues before giving speeches that recalled their past and the gratitude of life in Western Oklahoma.

Wilson spoke about how fortunate he was to have found a home in Western Oklahoma after moving to the area from Missouri.

"Western Oklahoma is such a great place to raise a family and to work and to worship with my church family, and I'm so stoked about all these young kids that couldn't wait to get out of this one horse town that are moving back here now. My two daughters came back because they wanted to live here and they're raising my grand babies right here in town and my wife and I are just so stoked that they're right here in town and blessed by it."

Wood talked about her many years in education, teaching in Elk City.

"I love teaching and my students, especially when seen the light switch turn on when something they finally grasp and got what you were talking about. I love seeing students you would least expect who love literature, especially Shakespeare. I enjoy seeing former students who are grown and have families. I enjoy seeing those who are now teaching, and I thank you students and teachers for allowing me to have been a part of the education system for so many years."

Tracy had high praise of the Western Oklahoma Historical Society for their preservation of the region's history.

"AT the time we were picking this cotton 50 years ago, there was a term circulated through the country that if anybody did something of notoriety, they were said to be walking in 'tall cotton'. This group, the Western Oklahoma Historical Society, they are the tall cotton in Western Oklahoma. Tonight I am proud to be nominated as a recipient of this award, and I am now walking in tall cotton."
