This drought is different than most

Jerry Nine
Woodward
Livestock
Auction
Woodward, OK

We are dry and, yes, we need a rain. The tritacale I have planted looks like it was planted two weeks ago.

It's an unusual drought. Normally in a drought cattle are going cheap. But with this drought covering several states there were a lot of cows culled that went to slaughter. Most ranchers did not have much hay.

Also in the mix was the packer buying the heavy bred cows to slaughter and for other purposes.

Now the prices the past month have gotten higher each week, which appears they definitely need something to kill. I'm not saying the packers can't make money at these levels but where they have many employees it might be cheaper to give too much than run a packing house at half capacity. That's the reason, in my opinion, most of them keep some cows on feed to use when the numbers are lower such as during bad weather.

Oklahoma National Stockyard sold over 5,000 head less this week than a year ago.

At breakfast this morning they said the next two days were going to be very windy. Last week, west of us 130 miles, it got so dirty with the winds that people driving on the highway all of a sudden went from being able to see to not being able to see at all. In fact, one trucker told me he could only see 10 feet in front of him. So apparently a car stopped in the middle of the dirt storm. Two semis stopped behind the car. The third semi hit the ones stopped, completely tearing the hood off.

A man who buys cattle at my sale was also behind that semi and he too was loaded with cattle and he swerved to the ditch. The highway patrolman said, "You are a heck of a driver." He said, "No, the guardian angel did it as I swerved and I'm not sure how I missed the wrecked semi."

Not long ago I was riding my horse across the neighbor's pasture and rode up to a windmill with a large tank. Just then I noticed two gals about 20 years old skinny dipping with their clothes beside the tank. They were startled. I said, "Don't worry, girls, I just came by to feed my alligators."

I had a date last weekend with a gal I had met the week before. I took her to a restaurant and the waitress came up to take our order. My date said, "I just want a burger, but I insist that it is plant based." She said, "I cannot think about killing a cow to eat." I assured her that the burger on the menu was plant based—that is it came from a processing plant.

"Editor's note: Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma."

National FFA WEEK

FEBRUARY 18-25, 2023

Local FFA Chapters Celebrate 2023 National FFA Week

Agriculture is part of our daily lives—from the food we eat to the clothes we wear. Last week, hundreds of thousands of FFA members across the country shared the story of agriculture as part of National FFA Week.

Today, FFA provides the next generation of leaders who will change the world. As the top school-based youth leadership development organization in the nation, FFA helps young people meet new agricultural challenges by encouraging members to develop their unique talents and explore their interests in a broad range of career pathways. FFA members are future leaders, future food suppliers, future innovators and so much more.

Whether through service projects or community gatherings, National FFA Week is a time for FFA members to raise awareness about the National FFA Organization's role in developing agriculture's future leaders and the importance of agricultural education.

National FFA Week always runs from Saturday to Saturday and encompasses Feb. 22, George Washington's birthday. This year, the week kicked off on Feb. 18 and finished on Saturday, Feb. 25.

The National FFA Board of Directors designated the weeklong tradition, which began in 1948, recognizing Washington's legacy as an agriculturist and farmer. A group of young farmers founded FFA in 1928, and the organization has been influencing generations that agriculture is more than planting and harvesting — it involves science, business and more.

National FFA Week is a time for FFA members to share agriculture with their fellow students as well as their communities. Chapters also give back to their communities through service projects during FFA Week. For example, during FFA Week, the Cleveland FFA chapter in Minnesota will be hosting a supply drive for the local humane society. In Arkansas, Clarksville High School FFA will be reviving the old community garden. Richland

High School FFA chapter in North Carolina plans to organize a food drive and Wheatland FFA in Montana will be building park benches. These are just a few examples of how FFA members will be living to serve in their communities. During FFA Week, the six national FFA officers connect virtually with chapters across the country — delivering keynotes, greetings, workshops and more!

The National FFA Organization is a school-based national youth leadership development organization of more than 735,000 student members as part of 8,817 local FFA chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Several local FFA Chapters did live interviews with Jimmy Clark, on KECO 96.5's "Today in Ag" show, which airs at Noon Monday through Friday. See pictures and sponsors on next 3 pages.

"Mike has a simple formula to prove the value of the oiler. 'If the cattle aren't swatting flies, they are eating grass, making milk and putting pounds on the baby. And if the babies aren't swatting flies, he's retaining that weight to go to market with. That's all you've got to sell is weight of the cow.'"

Moore, others, Rebuke State Superintendent's Statement Regarding State Colleges

February 24, 2023 - By News Director Jared Atha - State Rep. Anthony Moore, R-Clinton, along with Reps. Rhonda Baker, R-Yukon, and Mark McBride, R-Moore have publicly rubuked State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ryan Walters comments he made during Thursday's State Board of Education meeting regarding the state's higher education system.

In a joint statement, the state legislators described his remarks as "disparaging toward the state's higher education system."

Walters announced at the start of the meeting that he has "great concerns about our state's universities" being focused on ideology rather than setting up students for success in the workforce. He also questioned whether the state should be sending its students to Oklahoma colleges and universities.

In their joint statement, the three representatives said "It is clear the State Board of Education has no purview over Oklahoma's system of universities and colleges, which are maintained by The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education, a constitutional board. Even in his capacity as the governor's appointed secretary of education, Walters has no true authority over the state's system of higher learning."

The statement went on to say:

"Data shows a college degree or Career Tech certification leads to better job opportunities and better salaries for young people," their statement continues.

"At a time when building our workforce is more critical than ever in our state, the superintendent should refrain from discouraging any student from pursuing higher learning.

"We implore the state superintendent to focus on the job he was elected to do, which includes supporting increased outcomes for the children and the educators in our preK-12 classrooms."

Moore chairs the House Higher Education and CareerTech Committee; Baker chairs the House Common Education Committee; and McBride chairs the House Appropriations and Budget Subcommittee for Education.

Elk City Burglary Suspect Caught in Arkansas

February 23, 2023 - By News Director Jared Atha -An Oklahoma City man has been identified as the suspect who broke into multiple Elk City businesses in December.

That man, 33-year-old Jerome Dallas Hopkins was charged last week with five felony counts of burglary in the 2nd degree and one count of pattern of criminal offenses in Beckham County after an investigation revealed that he may have committed similar crimes in other Oklahoma communities, and also Arkansas.

According to the probable cause affidavit filed by Elk City Police, Hopkins is accused of breaking into the five businesses on the morning of December 21 between 1:30a.m. and 5a.m. During the break-ins, Hopkins is accused of stealing a total of $16,000 cash from the businesses and also causing property damage.

Through the course of the investigation, ECPD was able to use surveillance footage to capture a vehicle description and physical identifiers of the subject.

With that evidence, the detective investigating the case discovered that other jurisdictions in Oklahoma, including Oklahoma City, were also looking for a similar subject that had committed similar break-ins.

Hopkins was apprehended in Fort Smith, Arkansas by FSPD officers after committing burglaries in that community in January.

Court records show Hopkins has since been extradited to Oklahoma County and is currently being held at the Oklahoma County Jail.

WHITE DENTAL CARE

Drs. Mori & Teri White, DDS

Sedation Dentistry Calms Fears...
Take a pill and snooze through your dental appointment.

For many Americans, going to the dentist is a frightful event. If you are one of the 145 million people who avoid the dentist due to fear, we have the solution... Sedation Dentistry.

You can now experience your dental appointment through a totally relaxed and comfortable environment. With the help of Sedation Dentistry, you will wake up to find that your dental appointment is over and the restorations have been completed painlessly.

For those with a busy schedule, we can accomplish more dentistry in one appointment which means fewer visits to the dentist.

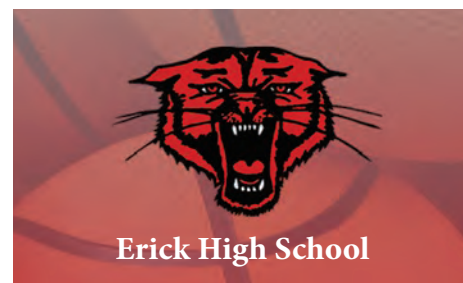

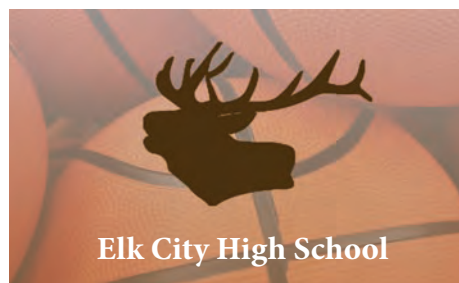

Sedation Dentistry is available for everything from simple restoration to the most complex procedures. We are very sensitive to our patients needs, especially those with high fear and apprehension. Now we can put an end to anxiety with this safe and wonderful technique of sedation.

We are proud to be able to offer Sedation Dentistry and offer hope to those who have been avoiding the dentist due to fear. If you would like to know more, call our team with your questions.
