Wind presented the latest challenge

Jerry Nine
Woodward, OK

Monday and Tuesday were days that could make a preacher cuss if he was sorting or checking cattle in the wind.

But maybe it will blow up a rain. I have guys ask me how is retirement? I'm not retired nor do I plan on it. There are days that I should have stayed home and not gone to the cattle sale. Oh well, I need to help keep these vaccine companies in business.

Am I the only one that hates these new so called easier ways to give Micotil with the fancy syringe and you have to pull the trigger first. I wish some of these genius people would go to the feedlot and try out their new invention before they quit making the old bottles, which by the way you can even see if they are empty! I am told most cattlemen are breaking the plastic outside container. It's like the hot shot that shocks one more time after you have pulled the trigger. If you are not smart enough to pull the trigger when you need it, you shouldn't use it.

Seems like lately I worry all the time. So a friend suggested that I hire someone to worry for me. So I met a guy and explained my situation. So I agreed that I would pay him $500 a week to do all my worrying. This is great when someone tells me about a problem I have. I say, "Tell Bob that's not my problem." Then another friend said to me there is no way you can afford to keep paying Bob that much. I said, "That's not my problem, tell Bob."

A friend gave me a parrot. But he did warn me that parrot cusses a lot. One day when the family came over and naturally the parrot started cussing. So my Mom grabbed the parrot and put him in the deep freeze. After about 30 minutes I got the parrot out and he was stiff. I said to the parrot, "I hope you have learned your lesson. Do you have anything to say now?" The parrot said, "Yes I do have one question." I said, "What is that?" He said, "What cuss words did all those chickens say that were in that deep freeze?"

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of High Plains Journal. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

Sayre Couple Released on Bond After Facing Child Neglect Charges

November 4, 2024 - A Sayre couple was recently released from the Beckham County Detention Center following charges of child neglect.

According to court records, 34-year-old Jared Brewer and 38-year-old Ashley Flores faced charges after an investigation by the Oklahoma Department of Human Services (DHS) began in early October.

The probable cause affidavit reveals that DHS contacted the Beckham County Sheriff's Office after receiving a report alleging a minor child was “failing to thrive,” potentially due to insufficient feeding and being locked in their room. During a forensic interview with the child, authorities observed holes in the door indicating a “locking mechanism.” Brewer claimed a dog had previously been kept in the room.

The child reportedly told authorities they are allergic to cheese, milk, and chocolate and only receive a corn dog for dinner on those occasions, often leaving them hungry. The deputy noted the home had food available in the refrigerator, two freezers, and a pantry.

The report describes the child as suffering from “severe protein-calorie malnutrition due to neglect” and other health conditions, including ADHD, autism spectrum disorder, and disruptive mood dysregulation disorder. The child also claimed their mother uses a derogatory name when addressing them.

Records from Red Rock indicate the child lost 26 pounds over the summer, with inconsistencies reported in Flores's account of what the child could eat. The child was hospitalized to receive adequate nutrition and had been observed sneaking into the school kitchen for food.

In August, a doctor reportedly expressed concerns about the child's weight, height, and development, suggesting a specialist referral, which Flores allegedly declined.

Both Brewer and Flores were released on a $10,000 bond each. Their next court appearance is scheduled for December 2.
