Stories from the Cowboy Table

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

huge. Well what do I know—this past week they sold for 1.9358.

I remember a good friend of mine that said the Good Lord takes care of widows and fools. That happened last week also. Choice had added 177 and cut and select was 1.5% higher already. One feed report showed 92.5% on feed and 83% of heifers at 92.5% and means lots of placements on feed.

After bombing, Iran's nuclear reopening most Americans have no idea what is happening in the world. I really like the stories from opening the cattle market each day. It's kind of like letting your emotions out when someone asks how you feel. Sometimes there will be a little bit of struggle in life.

I think if you live long enough over 85 years of age, the longer you live, the longer it takes to die. There is a lot of uncertainty. Figure if a calf will still sell for $1100 and some people are paying the same amount for a bottle heifer, they need one of us to bone one too.

When your children are teenagers it's important to have a dog so that someone in the house is happy to see you.

If you don't stand behind our troops, feel free to stand in front of them.

At my funeral, please take the bouquet off my casket and throw it into the crowd to see who's next.

After birth, a calf opens its eyes immediately, on a goat, it takes 2 hours, a cat, it's 6 days, a dog, it's after 10 days, and on a human, it's after marriage.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of The Penny News. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

At the cowboy table this morning there were 8 of us there, telling lies and each one of us stretching the story in how much rain we had received.

All of us waiting until the one in front had said how much rain he's gotten. We all had ordered breakfast. Then when the waitress brought the food to the one that ordered last, she said, "He's the best looking one." She thinks you are the best, maybe she is blind. One of the men said he knows that's true. Of course, she said, "Well that's personality talking." All of us laughed.

I always think it's interesting when the same guy who has the best looking wife, was the best looking first, and the ugliest guy there is proud of his wife. That's the reason I believe God made a blind woman. Preacher on humor said, "If your wife burns your hamburger, she loves you. If she burns your biscuits, it's on purpose."

Someone said, "Cattle are still too high." Truthfully, it kinda disgusted me as they were mediocre mixed colored heifers that didn't have frame size to get

Beutler Wins Literary Award

June 23, 2025 • By Landry Brewer • Amarillo, TX – Randy is dandy at writing great books.

Former Southwestern Oklahoma State University President Randy Beutler recently won the Finalist Award in Contemporary Non-Fiction for his book "Impresarios of the Rodeo Arena: The Story of the Beutler Stock Contracting Legacy" at the Western Writers of America Annual Convention in Amarillo, Texas.

The book tells the story of the impact that the First Family of Rodeo's stock company has had on the development of professional rodeo in the United States from 1929 until today. "It was an honor to be considered for this prestigious award by the Western Writers of America," Beutler said. "I'm grateful to Bennie, Connie, Rhett, and Tracy Beutler for giving me the opportunity to write this book."

Raised on a ranch near Elk City, Beutler is a 1979 Canute High School graduate and holds bachelor's and master's degrees from SWOSU as well as a juris doctor degree from Taft Law School. He taught at multiple high schools, spent time in the Oklahoma legislature, worked for the governor, then went to work in higher education. In 2010 Beutler became SWOSU's 17th president and served in that role until retiring in 2021.

Copies of "Impresarios of the Rodeo Arena" may be purchased at the Elk City Museum Complex.

Beckham County Sheriff's Office Named as "5-Star Model Agency" In OLETS Audit

June 18, 2025 • BCSO Press Release • Sayre, OK – A recent triennial audit cycle by the Oklahoma Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (OLETS) resulted in an outstanding rating of the Beckham County Sheriff's Office Communications Division. OLETS is a division of the Department of Public Safety and oversees all law enforcement communications agencies in the state.

The audit covered the years 2023 through 2025 and covered several areas of importance in ensuring secure communications. The audit is required by the FBI's policy regarding criminal justice information and security.

"I'm not surprised, but I am very pleased and proud of what this audit reveals about the efforts and commitment of our dispatch staff," said Beckham County Sheriff Derek Manning. "They specifically mentioned our Dispatch Captain, Zachary Allen for her efforts in ensuring one hundred percent compliance with all of the requirements which OLETS oversees."

Manning said that Captain Allen and her communications division are well-known throughout the area for their professionalism and out-of-the-box thinking and quick action when it comes to assisting with law enforcement communications needs. "Captain Allen has taught her dispatchers to go beyond answering the radio and telephone, especially in the midst of emergencies and crisis situations," Manning said. "She has taught them to become an active part of the response by proactively seeking information, whether through law enforcement sources and assets, geo-location searches, public records or social media. Then they forward that information to the field."

Manning said he has actually been in the middle of pursuits and manhunts and received vital information from his dispatchers because they were not only running the communications operations, but digging into resources to find useable information such as known associates or even life circumstances that might have prompted things like suicidal or dangerous behavior. "Because of her efforts and training, we have a whole communications division that now works to add to the investigation," Manning said. "Whether it's a manhunt, a pursuit, a missing child or elderly person, whatever the case, they help us achieve a better, safer outcome. Other agencies even call us sometimes and request Captain Allen's expertise for their operations. That says a lot."

Manning said the recent audit results are just another feather in that cap for Captain Allen and her staff. In the final report, the auditor wrote, "I describe your agency as a '5-Star model agency,' a title that only 5 of my 31 counties hold. Your agency exceeds OLETS standards, and I use your agency as a model for others to follow. Your Terminal Agency Coordinator (Captain Allen) is doing a fantastic job maintaining documentation and compliance with OLETS rules and regulations. Thank you for your support in this endeavor."

Manning said that the high expectations Captain Allen holds for her division within the Sheriff's Office is key to his agency's success. "This is a highly technical and lengthy audit process, and Captain Allen and her staff knocked it out of the park. I appreciate their work, and I'm extremely proud of their professionalism."
