What Goes Up, Hopefully Will Come Back Down For Buyers

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

Monday noon I looked at the cattle futures and all up again. Can't believe it. The word "high" is often just higher than we are used to, I guess. The biggest fear is if and when it tumbles, the feeder will pass out and the cattlemen will find out quick. I put on several feeder cattle insurance contracts for folks, and it's at a lot lower figure than we are today. However, after I calculate my insurance money it looks like I will still eat. Enough is very high on my list. Cows were short of moisture earlier in the week. We had 1.30" this past Saturday. Compared to some spots, we have been fortunate to catch several small rains. I have one pasture that is in the right spot that has the best grass I have seen there in 40 years.

And a few miles from the same field looks mediocre or worse. I was loading cattle this morning where the grandpa, son, and grandson were. The 4-year-old grandson got on the gate and grandpa was swinging him around and laughing with his grandson. The son said, "When I was his age Dad always hollered 'Get off the gate you'll make it sag!'" I saw a post that said in marriages between a man and woman 49% get a divorce. Between 2 men only 20% get a divorce. And between 2 women 70% get a divorce. It said, "Ladies, we men are not the problem."

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of The Penny News. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

Local Lawmakers Launch Interim Studies on Oklahoma's Future

July 29, 2025 • Oklahoma City, OK – Two western Oklahoma state representatives are stepping into the spotlight this interim season with ambitious studies aimed at improving lives and shaping the state's future. Rep. Nick Archer of Elk City and Rep. Anthony Moore of Clinton are leading or co-authoring several of the 152 legislative studies approved by House Speaker Kyle Hilbert to be reviewed before the 2026 legislative session. "These studies allow legislators to explore a wide range of issues," said Speaker Hilbert. "They're a key tool for preparing policy and building public support."

Rep. Nick Archer Tackles Big-Picture Policy Rep. Archer is taking on a broad range of subjects, from child welfare to cutting-edge science and energy reform. One study aims to revisit Oklahoma's foster care payment system, reevaluating a failed proposal to raise the per diem rate and exploring new models to better support foster families, especially those caring for high-need children. Archer is also teaming up with Rep. Preston Stinson on a pair of forward-looking studies. One titled "Unlocking the Quantum Frontier" explores how Oklahoma can lead in the field of quantum computing by investing in infrastructure, forming industry partnerships, and creating tax incentives. The second study, "The Oklahoma Space Renaissance," looks at Oklahoma's role in suborbital aerospace and space research. It will assess the viability of large-scale investments in the Oklahoma Spaceport and investigate opportunities in microgravity research and space manufacturing. Closer to home, Archer has proposed a study examining the Oklahoma Corporation Commission's Oil and Gas Conservation Division. With each inspector overseeing nearly 6,000 wells, the study will look at staffing shortages, outdated regulations, and the state's underfunded orphaned well program—highlighting the urgent need for reform and additional resources to protect public safety and the environment. Another Archer-led study will examine public health in relation to setback distances, likely referring to zoning or buffer requirements around potentially hazardous sites.

Rep. Anthony Moore Focuses on Criminal Justice Reform Meanwhile, Rep. Anthony Moore is leading a study into Prosecutor-Initiated Resentencing (PIR). The study will evaluate how this law, which allows prosecutors to petition courts for sentence reductions, impacts recidivism, incarceration costs, and successful reintegration of formerly incarcerated individuals. It will also bring in voices from law enforcement, victims, and community leaders.

What's Next The interim study period begins August 4 and runs through November 6, with hearings scheduled by committee chairs. While these studies don't guarantee legislation, they often set the stage for major policy shifts in upcoming sessions.

Both Archer and Moore are making sure rural Oklahoma has a strong voice in the state's long-term vision.

Three Arrested in Woodward Following Child Abuse Investigation and Retaliatory Shooting

July 28, 2025 • Woodward, OK — A disturbing series of events has led to the arrest of three individuals in Woodward County following a child sexual abuse investigation and a retaliatory shooting, according to a press release from the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation (OSBI).

On June 12, the Mooreland Police Department requested assistance from the OSBI after a 16-month-old child was brought to a local hospital with serious injuries. The child's mother, 31-year-old Krista Fizer, reported discovering the injuries and stated the child had been in the care of her boyfriend, 35-year-old Tyler Valdez. Medical staff initiated a pediatric sexual assault exam, which confirmed the injuries were the result of trauma. The case was immediately opened as a suspected child abuse investigation.

Just two days later, on June 14, OSBI agents were called again—this time by the Woodward County Sheriff's Office—to investigate a shooting at Valdez's Mooreland residence. Authorities say Valdez was injured when multiple shots were fired at the home around 5:30 a.m. He was transported to a local hospital for treatment. Investigators discovered that Fizer had made threatening posts on Facebook and used other forms of communication to threaten Valdez. They also learned that after the child's hospital release, Fizer physically assaulted Valdez prior to the shooting. OSBI determined that Fizer and 32-year-old Wayland Martin were both in the area at the time of the shooting.

Fizer and Martin were interviewed, arrested, and booked into the Woodward County Jail. Fizer faces charges including two counts of Shooting with Intent to Kill, Assault and Battery with a Deadly Weapon, Violation of a Protective Order Resulting in Great Bodily Injury, and Threatening an Act of Violence. Martin faces two counts of Shooting with Intent to Kill and the same protective order violation charge.

On June 25, OSBI shared the child's case with the University of Oklahoma Medical Center's Child Protection Team, who confirmed the injuries were consistent with abuse. Valdez was then arrested and charged with Sexual Abuse of a Child Under 12. He remains in custody at the Woodward County Jail.

OSBI says the investigation is ongoing.
