Stable as a Sale Barn

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

for these heifers. And a lot of these middle aged and older cows would hit the market quite a few of these cows would go to slaughter eliminating that calf to be born a year earlier. And it would also make less beef for a while on these heifers. (Not going to the health)

A friend of mine who is in the cattle business and he is also just one of those guys that always has something funny to say. He said you know right now in the cattle business it's just Betty hard to screw up a cattle deal but he said I am quite sure I will think of a way.

We walked into the sports bar and this same friend was there with his girlfriend. They were kind of in a argument. They drank and we talked a little soon his girlfriend went outside for a little bit. This friend said about his girlfriend leaving for a little bit. He said you know I didn't think anyone could run off a woman better than me but I believe you are even better at it.

I took the boys to Grand Lake fishing. So we stayed at Hard Rock Casino Friday night on the way. I gave each one of them $100 to gamble with. The next day I asked my youngest son did you gamble? He said yes. I lost $60.00. It almost made me sick. I said well that was my $100 I gave you. He said I know but still it about made me sick. I don't know how I raised one that bright.

Life is short take time to do things with your family.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of The Penny News. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

A lot of times I have to provide my own entertainment. And often I am the only one laughing at my jokes. Last week a gal that buys some calves for told me she could not buy any calves as her pens were full. So a few days later I texted her and said I went by your pens and turns out all your calves so now you cant tell me not to buy any. So this week I texted her saying "Don't tell me your Pens are Full." She said you can buy some but don't get too crazy. I texted back and said you are talking to a very stable non excitable straight laced extremely relaxed guy as I was when running up sale barn. She texted back so basically still moody. I said yes you are. We should get married cause we already have the sarcasm down.

I have heard some talk about the government considering paying cattlemen to retain heifers to breed. This would add more cows in a couple of years but it would also persuade other ranchers into selling middle aged bred cows to make room

Elk City Property Cleanup

September 23, 2025 - Elk City, OK – The City of Elk City has purchased a long-abandoned property at 102 BJ Hughes Access Road, taking a major step toward cleanup and redevelopment.

According to information released by the City of Elk City, commissioners approved the $30,178.45 purchase from the Beckham County Treasurer during their September 17 meeting. The site had been declared dilapidated in 2022 due to unsafe conditions.

The previous owner, Patch of Land Lending LLC, a California company, obtained the property through a foreclosure lawsuit in May 2021. The company had originally held a mortgage lien of $1,084,110. However, property taxes had not been paid since 2019, and Patch of Land Lending allowed the property to revert to the county rather than cover the unpaid taxes.

City officials said the purchase allows Elk City to move forward with demolition. The City plans to bid out the project to remove the structure. Mayor Nick Archer Kilhoffer identified the cleanup as a major priority.

Once cleared, the property will be put up for sale with the goal of covering cleanup costs, not turning a profit.

Cheyenne and Arapaho Tribes Announce Elk City Casino and Hotel Development

September 25, 2025 - Elk City, OK – The Cheyenne and Arapaho Tribes are moving forward with a long-anticipated development in Elk City that promises new jobs, economic growth, and family-friendly entertainment for western Oklahoma.

Governor Reggie Wassana shared details of the project following a community meeting in Elk City, where he described plans for a new Lucky Star Casino and Hotel, along with a Convention Center, RV Park, and Travel Plaza.

The tribes have owned the Elk City property for nearly 30 years. Under Governor Wassana's administration, the land was successfully placed into federal trust, clearing the way for construction of what leaders call a destination resort.

The Elk City development will feature:

- Lucky Star Casino & Hotel – A new entertainment hub with gaming, dining, and 100 guest rooms.

- Convention Center – A modern facility designed for conferences, banquets, and community gatherings.

- RV Park – With at least 40 hookups to welcome travelers and extended stays.

- Travel Plaza – A separate facility offering fuel, food, and services for the traveling public.

According to tribal officials, the project is expected to create hundreds of jobs during construction and ongoing operations. It will also generate new economic opportunities for businesses and residents throughout western Oklahoma.

Plans call for breaking ground before the end of the year. Phase one will begin with the casino and hotel, followed by three additional phases that will complete the four-phase, $85 million project. The development will rise on tribal land at East 7th Street and Interstate 40 in Elk City.

Design plans are still subject to change, but the vision remains clear: a family-oriented destination that strengthens both the community and the tribes' economic future.
