Beef Labels and Bull Stories

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

The Meat Institute announced last week a new economic analysis by Decision Innovation Solutions found that reinstating mandatory country of labeling (m cool) for beef and pork would impose significantly higher costs across the U.S. meat supply chain. They found m cool would cost the beef and pork industries about $1.02 billion in the first year including $721 million for the beef and $296 million for the pork. They stated that most of these expenses would be with recurring operational costs associated with tracking record keeping product segregation labelling and verification rather than one time investments.

The U.S. imports meat from roughly 30 - 70 countries. I would say some of that is true but you can't tell me now that they don't label and track all beef today in case of a problem. They are not about to not track it in case of a problem right now because if that was the case and they had no idea where it came from they would have to call all the meat in the U.S. back and dispose of it all. The real reason they don't want it they want to buy meat from any country and make you think it came from the U.S. Because all of us know if it has a U.S. label most Americans will buy U.S. beef. We actually import beef from Namibia, Africa. How many of you ranchers will buy that if that's what the label says? It may be perfectly fine but I'll just eat my beef fed 200 days on corn and if I'm eating in a restaurant I'm hoping it came from the U.S.

It's not that complicated we don't have to ID all U.S. cattle. We should only identify those coming in live from another country and put a label on all beef not raised in the U.S. and also not allow retailers to repackage foreign meat and label it U.S.

An older woman received a new car from her 4 children. This had a lot of fancy on it like most new vehicles do. The kids asked their mom "How do you like your new car?" She said I don't. It has so much unnecessary stuff on it. She said the other day I put it in reverse and it showed a picture on the screen of someone running over an old lady.

A rancher's wife posted on Facebook that she's pretty sure her husband has taken more photos of this new herd bull this week than he has taken of her since they got married.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of The Penny News. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

Downtown Elk City Block Party to Kick Off Oklahoma's Tax Free Weekend

August 3, 2026 - Elk City, OK – Downtown Elk City will be the place to be Friday evening as residents and visitors can enjoy live music, food vendors, family activities, shopping, and Oklahoma's annual Tax Free Weekend during the Downtown Elk City Block Party.

The event will take place Friday, August 7, from 5 to 9 p.m. in the heart of downtown Elk City. The celebration coincides with the first day of Oklahoma's 2026 Sales Tax Holiday, giving shoppers an opportunity to save on qualifying clothing and footwear purchases while enjoying an evening of community festivities.

Throughout the evening, downtown businesses will remain open until 7 p.m., allowing shoppers to take advantage of tax free savings before enjoying the entertainment.

Live music begins at 5 p.m. with JMM Driftwood Junction performing until 6:30 p.m. The Bottom of the Barrel will take the stage from 7 to 9 p.m.

Families can enjoy inflatables for children, browse local vendors and food trucks, and meet area first responders during a First Responder Meet and Greet. The evening will also feature the American Legion drawing at 6:30 p.m. and continue Elk City's yearlong celebration of the city's 125th birthday.

Oklahoma Tax Free Weekend Oklahoma's Tax Free Weekend runs from Friday, August 7, through Sunday, August 9. During the three day sales tax holiday, state, county, and municipal sales taxes are waived on qualifying clothing and footwear priced under $100 per item.

Items regularly priced above $100 may also qualify if a sale or coupon reduces the purchase price below the $100 threshold. Eligible online and catalog purchases also qualify as long as payment is accepted by the retailer during the tax free weekend.

Not all purchases are exempt. School supplies such as notebooks, pencils, binders, pens, and scissors remain taxable. Accessories including jewelry, handbags, wallets, luggage, watches, and umbrellas are also excluded. Athletic and protective footwear or clothing, such as cleats and sports uniforms, do not qualify unless they are designed for everyday casual wear.

City officials encourage residents to bring their shopping lists, enjoy the local businesses, and stay downtown for an evening of music, food, and family fun.

The Downtown Elk City Block Party is free to attend and runs from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday, August 7, in downtown Elk City.

Volunteer of the Year awards were presented to Wilma Jackson, Pepper Hernandez, and Adeline Enochs for their commitment to serving the community through volunteer efforts.

Cheri Lou Gastineau received the Ambassador of the Year Award for her dedication to promoting and supporting the Clinton Chamber and local businesses.

Kaci Klein was recognized as the AMBUCS Woman of the Year, while Dara Moser earned the Rotary Businessperson of the Year Award for outstanding leadership in the local business community.

Linda Parker received the Clinton Public School Foundation's Goldie Pettie Award in recognition of her contributions to education and support of Clinton Public Schools.

The Chamber's annual awards banquet remains one of Clinton's signature community events, celebrating the people whose service and leadership continue to make a positive impact across the city while marking the Route 66 Centennial milestone.

August 3, 2026 - Clinton, OK – The Clinton Chamber of Commerce recognized several outstanding community members during its annual awards presentation Friday, July 31, as part of the Route 66 Centennial Banquet at the Frisco Center.

Receiving the community's highest honor, Mart Tisdal was named Clinton's 2026 Citizen of the Year. Tisdal, a longtime Clinton attorney and steward of the M.T. and Helen Gholton Trust, was recognized for his dedication and lasting contributions to the Clinton community.
