A Little Rain Goes a Long Way

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

Thankfully our area has received some moisture. It still is a little spotty from a few miles to another, but it is a lifesaver. And it is amazing how fast the grass greens up in areas where we got several rains. There are still a lot of grass pastures that are short and don't have enough growth to carry the cows through the winter without feeding a lot of hay and cake. And in our area hay is scarce. Possibly there is a little cane around that might make a little hay. However I had a few fields of cane that burned up completely. We are so dependent on moisture whether you are a farmer or rancher to make your living. And whether you have enough grass to keep your herd through the winter. And how much extra feed it will take to keep that cow if the grass is short. As a dad it is nice to hear the words thank you. So always remember to tell God thank you for the rain. We should also tell God thank you for letting us wake up this morning in the greatest land of all, the United States.

Some are predicting that feedlot inventories in 2027 will be smaller than in 2026. It did seem there were a lot of heifers bred this past year. And with the price of some of these bred heifers and pairs, you could understand why. However there were a lot of cows being sold because of the drought. In our area not as many cows sold because of the drought as there were in 2011 because in one sale we had a Woodward that year we sold over 5600 counting the calves. And then a big yearling sale 2 days later. That was a nightmare in you know where.

I did what my preacher suggested to remove all the toxic people out of my life, but now I'm alone and bored.

I think it is a man's responsibility to feed a woman. Because the last time a woman fed a man we were chased out of the Garden of Eden.

This past weekend I was in Oklahoma City. A man standing on the corner asked me for 50 cents and something to eat. I said get in if you know where to get something to eat for 50 cents let's go.

Recently, I was asked to run a marathon. At first, I said no. Then they said to me come on, it's for the handicapped and blind kids. Then I thought ok, maybe I could win this one.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of The Penny News. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

Oklahoma Voter Registration Deadline Is Friday

October 5, 2026 - Oklahoma City, OK – Oklahoma residents who want to vote in the Nov. 3 general election have until Friday, Oct. 9, to register to vote.

The Oct. 9 deadline also applies to currently registered voters who need to update their registration. Voters who have changed their name or moved to another county must submit a new voter registration application.

Eligible residents can register online through the OK Voter Portal or submit a paper voter registration application. Paper applications may be submitted to a county election board or an authorized voter registration agency.

Applications sent by mail must be postmarked no later than Oct. 9. Applications delivered in person must be received by the appropriate election officials by Oct. 9.

Voters are encouraged to check their registration information and make any necessary changes before the deadline to ensure they are eligible to cast a ballot in Oklahoma's Nov. 3 general election.

Cheyenne and Arapaho Citizens Approve Data Center Moratorium

October 5, 2026 Concho, OK – Citizens of the Cheyenne and Arapaho Tribes have approved a three-year moratorium on data center construction on tribal lands.

The measure was approved during the Tribes' annual Tribal Council meeting Saturday in Concho, near El Reno. Of 351 votes cast, 261 were in favor of the moratorium and 83 were opposed.

The moratorium will remain in effect for three years, giving tribal leaders and citizens additional time to study the potential impacts of large data center projects. The resolution calls for the moratorium to continue through October 2029.

Concerns raised ahead of the vote included the amount of water required by data centers, tribal water rights, drought conditions and possible effects on the environment, farmland and buffalo. Supporters also called for additional study of the potential economic impacts and greater transparency surrounding proposed projects.

The moratorium applies to data center development on Cheyenne and Arapaho tribal lands while the Tribes consider potential legislation and protections related to future projects.

Unemployment Falls Across Western Oklahoma Counties in August

October 5, 2026 - Oklahoma City, OK – Unemployment rates declined in August across Beckham, Custer, Washita, Roger Mills and Greer counties, following the statewide trend of lower unemployment compared with July.

Among the five western Oklahoma counties, Greer County recorded the highest unemployment rate in August at 3.8 percent. Beckham County followed at 3.7 percent, while Custer County reported 3.2 percent.

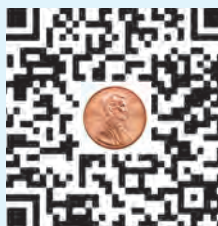

Roger Mills and Washita counties each recorded unemployment rates of 2.9 percent.

The local rates were all below Oklahoma's August non-seasonally adjusted unemployment rate of 4.1 percent, according to data from the Oklahoma Employment Security Commission.

Statewide, unemployment rates declined in all 77 counties from July to August. However, the year-over-year picture remained less favorable, with unemployment rates higher than August 2025 in 72 of Oklahoma's 77 counties.

Oklahoma's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate stood at 4.3 percent in August. More than 85,000 Oklahomans were unemployed during the month, nearly 16,000 more than a year earlier.

The August county figures were released Sept. 30 by the Oklahoma Employment Security Commission.

Different is Good

Two young men are battling it out in August to be the starting quarterback at the University of Wherever. Finally, Coach Grit announces who's #1 on the depth chart.

"Jacob Strongarm will be our starting quarterback," Coach says at the first press conference of the season. "He did some things to separate himself in practice, and we think he gives us the best chance right now to be successful."

Jacob Strongarm is the starter because he is different from his competition. He did something—or several things—differently. He stood out from the other guy.

To win customers, it's not enough to list your products and talk about how great your service is. Everyone else does the same thing.

To win customers, be different.

Differentiation is one of those great words that's underutilized (at least until teens get hold of it and make a "hilarious" video about the word on TikTok). Differentiation means what it sounds like.

To be chosen, first you have to be noticed. In a sea of sameness, being different gets attention.

A girl doesn't fall for a guy because he looks and acts just like all the other guys.

The most successful singers in music history succeeded because they sounded different.

Doing what all the other businesses in your category are doing in their ads is no way to get shoppers to pay attention to you.

What are your competitors doing in their ads? How do they present themselves? Make sure you look and sound nothing like them.

Disrupt the pattern. Do things they're not doing. Say things they're not saying. Occupy ground they're not on.

Teenagers all look alike because nobody wants to stand out. Businesses shouldn't present themselves like teenagers.

Make customers notice you by looking and sounding different than the others. Make them look and listen. Make them pay attention.

You can't do that by blending in.
